

PERMATECH® Metal Systems

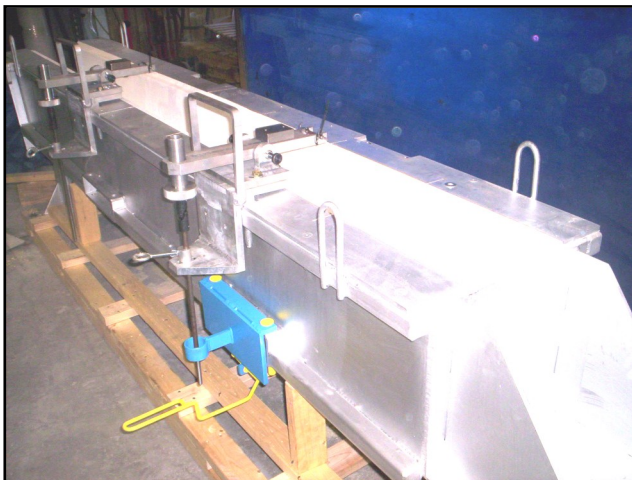

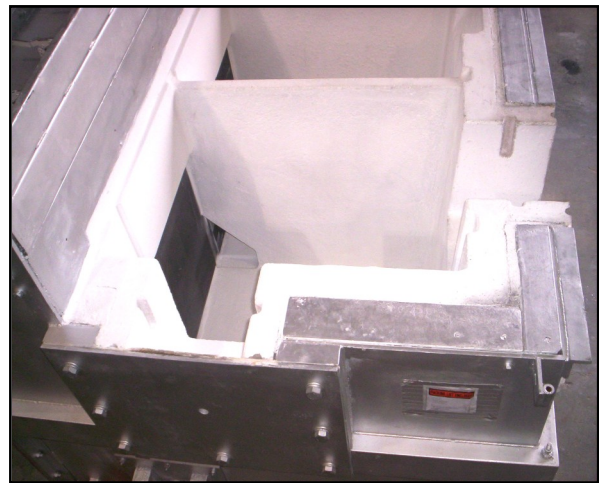

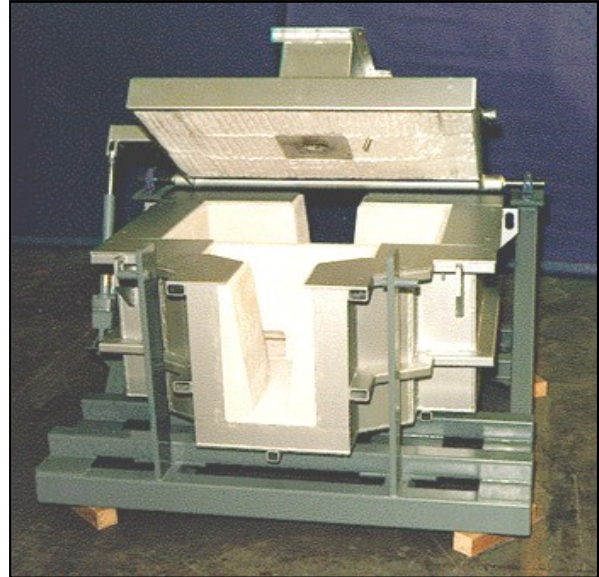

Molten Metal Systems

Permotech Systems and Fabrication, a fully -integrated division of Permotech, Inc., provides the necessary steel fabrication and refractory construction to support Permotech Engineering Services.

Permotech Systems and Fabrication is supported by a very experienced team of designers and fabrication experts.

This team's goal is to provide rapid project management and construction of a wide range of molten metal equipment and handling systems.

Whether it is the design of a small but intricate casting operation, or a very large and complex degassing unit, Permotech Systems and Fabrication has the necessary experience and capabilities to meet the rigid specifications that are required for today's very sophisticated molten metal operations.
